Student Spotlight

Anthony Tombo

The Ohio State University
Civil and Environmental Engineering Student
Graduating Fall 2010
The US Army Corps of Engineers - Intern

Mr. Tombo graduated high school in 2005 from Hubbard High School, in Hubbard, Ohio. After excelling in the classroom and on the soccer field Anthony decided to attend Youngstown State University to major in Civil Engineering. Anthony spent a summer working as an apprentice for Gary Clower and Clower Construction as a Timber Framer. From here Anthony took a part-time job with FedEx Freight in order to pay for college which led to a position as a full time employee. After layoffs due to tough economic times Anthony transferred to The Ohio State University to complete his degree.

Shortly after attending Ohio State Anthony received scholarship awards from both the Civil Engineering department and Engineering Department for the 2008-2009 school years. In 2008 Anthony got elected as the treasurer of the ASCE Ohio State student chapter. Through ASCE Anthony made ties with the SAME Kittyhawk Post, for whom he would later represent at the SAME Leadership Workshop in Texas during April 2009. Here student and adult leaders from all across the country gathered to review the progress of SAME. Both were able to discuss the progress, and ideas for improvement for their chapters/branches of SAME. As the Kittyhawk Post SAME representative at The Ohio State University Anthony hopes to further the mission of the post and aid other students in experiencing the positive outcome his SAME relationship has given him.

During spring 2009 Anthony played a large role in helping The Ohio State University compete in the Regional Steel Bridge Competition at the University of Kentucky with primary focus being in designing and fabrication. Ohio State qualified for nationals where they later competed at Purdue University placing 31st overall. During this time Anthony also got chosen as a member of Chi Epsilon, the national honorary society for Civil Engineers.

Anthony recently got selected to intern for the Army Corps of Engineers Louisville District, Columbus office. Here Anthony will work for the summer and into the fall quarter which will be his last quarter before finishing his bachelor's degree in Civil Engineering from The Ohio State University. In addition he was awarded the Timothy A. Curtis Scholarship from the SAME Kittyhawk Post. Anthony also plans to take his Fundamentals of Engineering Test in the fall prior to graduation.
